Extension activities are carried out in the neighborhood community, sensitizing students to social issues, for their holistic development, and impact thereof during this year.

The institution has proactively organized a range of extension activities in the neighborhood community to promote social responsibility, holistic development of students, and address societal issues. These activities aim to sensitize students to real-world challenges while fostering empathy, leadership, and civic consciousness.

During this year, several impactful initiatives were undertaken, including health camps, environmental drives, literacy programs, and social awareness campaigns. Health camps provided free medical checkups, promoting preventive healthcare, and awareness on hygiene, nutrition, and wellness. Students actively participated in national nutrition day, world cancer day etc.

Environmental sustainability was prioritized through tree plantation drives, cleanliness campaigns under Swachh Bharat Abhiyan, and awareness sessions on earth day, world population day, national energy conservation day etc. These initiatives aimed to foster environmental consciousness among students and the community.

Awareness sessions on gender sensitization and women empowerment were also carried out to address critical social issues.

Overall, these initiatives created a significant impact on the community while contributing to the holistic development of students, aligning with the institution's commitment to community engagement and societal progress.

We spoke with a few of the students who attended the event. They were given handouts that explained the need of maintaining regular hygiene. Children sang out poems about healthy practices after engaging in ordinary conversation. They participated in a questionnaire and were questioned about their everyday activities to encourage leading healthy lives.

We held a briefing with them because March 24th is recognized as World's TB Day, which aims to increase public awareness of the severe health, social, and economic effects of tuberculosis (TB) and to intensify efforts to stop the global TB epidemic.

We gave them advice on early signs of tuberculosis, treatments, and safety measures to take.

Finally, thank you to everyone who has supported us for this event.

This session aimed to make everyone aware of the International Day of the Girl Child and the government's efforts to support girls. Our goal was to inspire people to get involved and help create a better future for girls, not just in Sindodi but everywhere. It was an important step in our mission to empower girls and promote gender equality.

2. Interactive Games and Gift Distribution:

To engage with the local community and foster a sense of togetherness, we organized a series of games and activities with the students of the local school. These games not only brought joy and enthusiasm but also encouraged a sense of unity among the participants. Prizes and gifts were awarded to the winners of these games, which were generously provided by the college students who coordinated the event. This interactive approach aimed to build positive relationships and promote community involvement, further strengthening our ties with the village of Sindodi.

3. Awareness Rally:

A dedicated team of student coordinators conducted an awareness rally. They visited homes and interacted with residents, person to person, to spread awareness about the International Day of the Girl Child and the government initiatives aimed at supporting girls. The rally was a proactive effort to ensure that the message reached every household in the village, further amplifying the impact of our program.

The program in Sindodi was a resounding success, and it achieved its primary goal of spreading awareness about government agencies and initiatives supporting girls. The active participation of both college students and NSS volunteers, along with the warm response of the village community, made the event truly memorable.

We believe that initiatives like these play a crucial role in empowering girls, promoting their education, and creating a more inclusive and supportive society. We hope that our efforts will inspire positive change in Sindodi and other communities like it.

Conception:

Women's Equality Day is celebrated on August 26 to commemorate the 1920 adoption of the 19th Amendment, which granted some women the right to vote. However, it also recognizes ongoing gender disparities and the continued effort to advocate for the rights and privileges for all people regardless of sex, race, religion or socioeconomic status.

Objective:

Women's Equality Day gives an opportunity to reflect on the continuing struggle for equality in the workplace and the role of women in our public life. Women in public service and government have long served this nation by working to clear barriers, enforce laws, implement new ideas, and change people's attitudes. Today we are reminded we all have the opportunity and the responsibility to create a society that gives both men and women equal voice.

Details of the Programme: Like the intricate patterns of a rangoli, the students of INDORE INSTITUTE OF PHARMACY weave a platform where women's equity takes center stage and students presented their thoughts through their creativity in form of rangoli on the Occasion of WOMENS EQUALITY DAY. Each vibrant color represented the diverse strengths and talents on the theme EMBRACE EQUITY. Almost 37 students from different years have participated and contributed by making this event a great success. Time limit was 1 hour. Judges for the competition was Dr. Parimeeta Chanchani, Professor, IIST and Dr. Namrata Kaushal, Associate Professor, IIST observed each and every rangoli carefully and evaluation is done on creativity, idea and theme. Gender should never define the limits of ambition and IIP students successfully proven this thought. Lifting women up doesn't bring men down, it creates a more harmonious and balanced world for all and with equal participation from both male and female candidates depicted equity for unity as well. The event is coordinated by Ms. Saloni Yadav as faculty coordinator and Sumit Naroliya, Prabhleen Kaur as student's coordinator.

Winners for Rangoli Competition are: I prize: Ms. Sushmita Mandal and Ms. Tanishka Sengar

World Population Day 2023 aims to recognize the transformative power of empowering females. It aims to raise awareness about global population issues and their impact on society. Many children studying there attended the event and we interacted with them. Handouts were circulated and made them understand about maintain routine hygiene. After general interaction children sang out poems and shared their views about importance of education. People gathering there were asked to practice good hygiene especially and quiz was played among them to motivate for a healthy lifestyle. Student coordinator Yash Rawka delivered a motivating speech regarding the population of India versus the resources and importance of water, electricity and the ways to save it. We taught them how small changes make a big difference. We delivered the message to children there that more population grows, the greater resources it will need and the more it will use them and good education will result them further to educate more people about how population would impact nature. Atlast our NSS students conducted a rally and headed towards our institute.
